

ABSTRACT

Nowadays the development of lifestyle makes everyone particularly women are following the development itself by choosing an activity that makes someone busy in daily life. This will trigger surfeit, boredom, stress, etc. which affect women on their appearance and health. Therefore, a place to release their sense of fatigue called SPA is needed. SPA (Solus Per Aqua) is a treatment that uses water where nowadays not only uses by adults but also children. By means of the presence of SPA design for mother and child, it takes a design that can be fun and can be soothing to be useful in not only for the mother but also beneficial to the child. SPA design for mothers and children is followed by the theme of Aquatic Intimacy. It aims to help reattach the mother-child relationship where the theme for this facility for a mother who has less time in paying attention to her child growth, so that the intimacy between mother and child on the wane. In addition, the interior design of mom and baby SPA is wanted to create a design that can build intimacy between mother and child by providing a place where can help togetherness of mother and child through activities within SPA. one of many places that can help togetherness between mother and child is a space where the massage treatment room is the core room of spa treatments activity in which there is a furniture bed massage for mother so she can be fused with a baby box and can be fused with massage bed for child. It is designed so that the moment of togetherness between mother and child will remain in touch with the availability of such facilities. In addition, mother and child are able to interact and communicate well.
