

ABSTRACT

Fruit salak easily encountered anywhere in indonesia and always available in the market because of salak if plants fruitful barely know season . To potentials owned indonesia as countries agraris , agriculture of fruit salak annually always got the increase in tons until motherless the number of production and from the volume of production salak with a figure which are relatively high and the waste from the seeds of salak produced too many and this will harm the environment if not managed well. The election of the seeds of salak this in addition to being one of objects to the study also to increase economic value of the seeds of salak that can be an alternative and new innovations in making beads made from waste seed salak. The seeds of salak this will become a fashion in the form of product artwear and 's jewelery. With the existence of research is expected to be able to reduce waste seeds salak and to process natural resources by using human resources exist in indonesia can also be an inspiration the community that the seeds of salak which have so far we know it is just a regular seeds that is hard and look not at all advantageous it turns out that can produce a great work, not only to fashion in the world to be used as fashion but other products as accessories, bag etc can results from a salak seeds.

Key Word : salak seeds, beads, fashion, Jewelry.