

ABSTRACT

Data Processing Information Systems Web-Based Student Value is a system that provides information student activity reports online form value statements and information students are concerned with web-based, so it helps speed and quality in the delivery of information. Problems that occur in the processing of the value of report cards at SMAN 22 Bandung is still manual, which was written in the book value of report cards and ledger so much time and effort required to process the task. This study aims to establish an information system values facilitate the recording and reporting of data values computerized student. In addition to the web-based data information can be accessed anytime. This application uses multiuser consisting admin and student at the time of login will open the application so that the security of existing programs. This system works to enter and save any report data values.

Keywords: System, Information, Data Value, Web