Indonesia has a diversity of textiles from the island of Sumatra until Papua, the diversity includes fabrics, motifs, colors, and techniques. In the Lampung region, the famous textile craft is Sulam Usus. Sulam Usus is a embroidery made from satin fabric with chicken intestine and typical motifs such as tembung manok (pantat ayam), kupu-kupu, ukel-ukel, and obat nyamuk technique, besides that it is also known as traditional cloth due to the traditional manufacturing process. Sulam Usus is first used in traditional Lampung clothing worn to the chest (bebe) using cloth. Besides that, Sulam Usus has been developed by Lampung's fashion designer, Aan Ibrahim. In Indonesia the development of fashion accessories is in line with the development of fashion so there is always renewal and also the development from year to year, besides of that the search for new seeds or natural resources is processed into a national-scale competition, namely Femina LPA (Lomba Perancangan Aksesoris), LPA Femina not only uses non-textile materials but also uses textile materials for accessories, one example is the 2008 Naini Design winner. In addition, the craftsmen of Sulam Usus who make accessories of Sulam Usus are Kofana Galler, which is the differentiator is these craftsmen have high traditional values, so they can be re-worked by adjusting the trend of fashion accessories in materials, shapes, colors and concepts.
