

ABSTRACT

With online media, information from any part of the world can be obtained. High speed in providing information, making online media widely used by the community at this time. In that case we can use for certain interests such as research, search data, and collect data. Based on the collection of data and information we can know the information we want such as crime in a city that based on data that has been collected from some online media data. With the data already collected can be classified into the respective categories of news articles that have been collected using the naïve bayes classifier method. From the research results of this final task in classifying news articles about kejahatan and mapping obtained accuracy with an average of 100%.

Keyword: Online Media, Naïve Bayes Clasification