ABSTRACT

The lifestyle changes especially ini big cities in Indonesia make the coffee business from upstream to downstream grow. Many businessman not only have coffee shop but also coffee roastery which produce roast beans. Kopi Dewa faces new competitors every day that makes Kopi Dewa need strategy to maintain their existance and win a bigger market. This study aims to determine the external factors and internal factors

The purpose of this research is to formulate competitive strategy of Kopi Dewa's roast bean. This research method uses descriptive quantitative method. All informations are obtained through interview, observation, questionnaire, and literature studies. First is to identified internal and external factors of Kopi Dewa. Furthermore, these factors are shortened and given weights, ratings, and scores on the IFAS matrix and EFAS matrix.

The result of both matrix show Kopi Dewa in quadrant I in the Cartesian SWOT diagram, which means growth strategy is a good strategy for Kopi Dewa at this time. Both matrix components are mapped in the TOWS Matrix and give four alternative strategy. All four alternative strategy are ranked from the most important to be implemented immediately. The main strategy is Growth Strategy (market penetration), followed by service quality, pause strategy, and market penetration.

Keywords: SWOT Analysis, EFAS Matrix, Competitive Strategy, Kopi Dewa, Coffee Industry