(Documentary Film About the Village Life and Potential on the Slopes of Mount Merapi in Tegalmulyo Village, Klaten Regency)

Abstract:

Tegalmulyo village is a small village on the slopes of Mount Merapi in Klaten district. This village looks like a village general, but behind that there is an abundant natural potential. This village produces very abundant resources such as soil fertility, cool air, and minerals. This natural wealth is the main topic that will be raised by the author. Therefore, the writer is interested in reconstructing the phenomenon into a documentary to describe the life and natural potential of Tegakmulyo village. The author uses a mirrorless camera for the FullHD quality shooting process.
