

ABSTRACT

urrently, salon and spa business has been growing rapidly and caused a really tough competition, especially in Indonesia and most definitely in area Cigadung Bandung whose the society tend to suffer from stress. No exception to women with their intensive activities everyday and in need to do physical beauty treatment and relaxation to release the weariness from work. With a high level of competition, urban society needs and lifestyle, the combination of Spa and Salon intended to serve beauty treatment from a salon combined with relaxation treatment from a spa. The author implement a research methode by doing a literature study and direct field survey to interview the reliable sources from Spa and Salon in Jakarta in order to obtain more accurate data and material. Further observation and analysis are done from the collected data about the needs and a complete standarization of a spa and a salon. And to learn more about designing an interior of spa and salon with more observation in ergonomic and esthetic side to every room, the atmosphere that was created in Day Spa Salon This is a room but packed into Javanese Eclectic style, and maximalize the facilities in order to give the customers comfort and for the staff or employees to perform their actifities conveniently. Because not only from the service aspect, an interior design held a very crucial part to give an image of Spa & Salon.

Keywords: Spa, Salon, relaxation