ABSTRACT

In the neighborhood where we live there are usually vegetable traders, both of which sell vegetables around or settled. Sometimes we want to buy vegetables from the trader, but the trader has passed our house too far away or is busy with work outside so he doesn't have time to buy it. Coupled with the buyer's ignorance of the sales schedule of the trader, making meetings between buyers and traders more difficult. This is detrimental to both parties, because traders lose consumers, and buyers do not get vegetable ingredients for cooking.

With the development of current technology, an online vegetable merchant application is made in order to facilitate buyers to order the desired vegetable ingredients wherever and whenever. Yu!! Mayur application is an android-based online vegetable ordering application and has 3 types of users (traders, admins and customer). Make it easy for buyers to see and buy vegetable products from merchants via Android smartphone.
