

ABSTRACT

Technology is rapidly developing. It's, directly or not, affects the trading system. The online selling make a possible people to trade the products and services online. The costumer, or at least the prospective one, can make a transaction by finding your website, seeing and reading the advertisement, and making an order.

The system talked here is one of application that is used to make an order in selling-online, specifically for Sheny online store. The costumer can find any information related to kelom geulis and make an order directly from this application. This system is consisted of some fungsionalitas among other things there are cutomer registration, shopping cart, cutomer management, transaction management, making of ordering graph of pursuant to category, etc.

The customer nowday, will definitely look for the best way to get their needs. This application offers that way with many benefits it has. The easier way in doing the transaction seems to be the biggest benefit for the customer.

Keyword : sheny online store, kelom geulis, selling store