ABSTRACT

CV Andakas Jaya Samarinda is one of construction service company which expanding and has complex business processing in construction project data company. Until now, data processing still use manually. Therefore final project Construction Service Application Based on web for CV Andakas Jaya Samarinda is a media which has function to processing data and data depository, such as processing data officer, project equipment, heavy equipment, construction material, and project report calculation during the project taking place, and also another component which support this application.

This project made with waterfall method, and use Php as script and MySql as database.

Keyword: Construction Service Application Based On Web.