

ABSTRACT

Mobilephone developments in Indonesia has grown rapidly along with the development of technology. Mobilephone Android-based smartphones are currently being favored by the people of Indonesia ranging from children to adults. Not only as a tool for communication, but the Smartphone has the benefit of allowing many applications to run.

Try out is needed by the student to practice the final level of each student before the national exam test is something that is feared by students, so they prepare themselves with the best that is to try out. In this final project is an application Try out nasioanal secondary school exams for Android smartphones so that the students can do anywhere and anytime Try out easily. In this application, there will be some very simple menu such applicative questions, answers, materials, tips, reports, and because statistics can be updated.

The application is running well for a stable performance of the memory heap memory usage ratio of 50.08%, and boosted with the ease of running features and attractive interface. These applications are either in use with WCDMA networks, because the network perfomansi great influence on application performance. That makes this application very helpful user in preparing for the national exam.

Keywords: Try out the National Exam, Mobile Application and Android