

GLOSSARY

- Blueprint : A detailed framework as a foundation in policy making that includes goal setting and objectives, strategy, implementation of the program and focus of activities and steps or implementation that must be implemented by any the unit in the work environments.
- Catalog : An ordered list that contains information from a number of things or stuff that is in the list.
- Enterprise Architecture : Related tools that can align information technology strategy with the business strategy of the organization.
- Framework : A set of functions which are arranged so that the work can be more directional.
- Gap Analysis : The analysis was conducted to compare the condition of the target and the baseline.
- Matrix : A collection of information that is presented in the rows and columns that show the interaction between business groups of columns with the group's business line.
- Roadmap : Directives that are used as a reference for the development.
- Technology Component : An encapsulation of technology infrastructure that represents a class of technology product or specific technology product.