

ABSTRACT

The development of information technology is developing rapidly these days has entered almost all fields of life. One was in the business of leasing goods, especially console game rental service provider. Each console game rental service providers have their own way to market their products. The most common description, console game rental service provider using the leaflet to market rent. It certainly requires a lot of cost and effort. Consumers are also still difficulty in knowing the location of the nearest game console rentals. Based on the existing problems needed web-based applications using CI framework that can help to market the game console which is owned by the service provider console game rental and assist consumers in making leasing transactions. It is expected to have applications built to provide convenience to console game rental service providers in their efforts and also to the consumer game console in terms of the rental.

Keywords: console game, codeigniter, website.