

DESIGN FASHION LEATHER ACCESSORIES COCONUT SHELLWASTE

By

Tika Sartika

1405122024

ABSTRACT

Coconut plantations is a plant that most used by the community in Indonesia. With the potential, makes the amount of the production of coconut plantations, each year get gain up to thousands of tons. Therefore, coconut shell waste which is produced in relatively many and increased each year. This time is very small the utilization of waste materials coconut shell for products especially fashion product accessories. Waste material selection coconut shell is in addition to one of the research object also to increase economic value from waste coconut shell so that can be an alternative and a new innovation in making fashion accessories and products from waste fashion coconut shell. With the character that is owned by the waste coconut shell is very suitable if combined with soldering technique and macrame technique. To know more about the utilization of coconut shell waste, done interviews and observations directly to the place where the producer and waste craftsmen coconut shell.

Keywords: Accessories, Coconut shell, Fashion, Macrame, Waste