

ABSTRACT

Technology has evolved to the mobile Smartphone has the edge in speed internet and open source operating system that can design applications and to develop applications that freely operating system Android. With the Android operating system can design application that support everyday activities. The authors use the smartphone as a final project entitled “Reward and Punishment Application At Ar-Rafi Elementary School” is.

This application is expected to help provide information about violation to parents, and provide the report of students violations and reward at Ar-Rafi Elementary School.

Keywords: Information, Smartphone, Android