

ABSTRACT

E-Learning has become a common thing in this era of modern education. E-Learning is one of Learning media implemented in elementary schools Ar Rafi. In its application, E-Learning in need of measurement preparedness related components so that its application is not in vain. The concept of E-Learning Readiness Index (eLRi) is an E-Learning evaluation model that can be proposed to evaluate E-Learning in an institution. Characteristics of Erli has several indicators and factors that will be in the value of this Erli models are from students and teachers, the process and the products they use so it can measure the success of E-Learning in the institution itself. Measurement Application Readiness Implementation of E-Learning in Primary School ELRI Ar Rafi based models is expected to provide a measure of the readiness of the implementation of E-Learning for Primary Schools Ar Rafi to fit the original purpose of the implementation of E-Learning implementation in accordance with the model eLRi.

Keywords: Erly models, E-Learning, Measurement Implementation Readiness, Questionnaire