Abstract

The design of mobile application development Student's Telkom University aims to enhance students ease in finding information's contained on the Mobile Student's Telkom University application. The development focus on navigation design, content and component what application need. Navigation design where it is important for an application where the navigation can guide the user to search information. According to Steve Krug a home page design should be there is some content, that is identity and mission, hierarchy, search, teaser, the current content, transaction, (if needed), shortcut, dan registration (if needed).

Keyword: Development, Navigation, Content