

ABSTRACT

Immunization activity can has objective to prevention by in an intentional manner give immune or endurance , when the get infection will not directly died or blemish on his body .Immune in the body of the child is not as strong as like adults , therefore immunization to kids are really important in order that the body they can resist disease into a state of body them and they to be invulnerable to dangerous disease.

Problems that happening is still the number of people parents are not too understand about immunizations and the importance of immunization for children .The community and parents need to understand the right information about immunizations.

This design in design by using the method the qualitative study and data can be obtained through interviews with speakers , the questionnaire your data , then observation observe live how conditions field indeed .Media information about immunizations this can give the understanding of to parents would imunis