

Abstract

Dislect (dyslexia lecture) is a based program android to train people with dyslexia in writing letters especially children dyslexia light , method to be applied on the application is hand drawing method .

Dyslexia children tending to difficult distinguish letters for example letter b with d or also the letter u to the n , we aimed at making an application that help children people dyslexia light in learned their letters and improve the ability in remembering letters , because children age 5 to 8 years always enthusiastic with something new for example learn writing and read in a smartphone.

The results of the study showed that , in the trial of a response from the user very good , and after he did a test user can use this application as alternative learning.

keyword : dyslexia , android , handwriting.