

ABSTRACT

This is a system designed system of recruiting new employees in the company PT. Multi Garmenjaya. With the implementation of this new system of recruitment, it is for those who will apply for a job and can easily access the information without having to come directly to the company. In addition, the recruitment system could also provide convenience when the company needs information about applicants if required the employee to occupy a position that will be occupied. The system is made using the waterfall method and aims to make it easier for applicants when applying for the desired application and the HRD staff in the selection of the entry application. In addition, the use of this system can reduce the pile of paper that can be wasting space.

Keywords: System, Recruitment, Web, PT. Multi Garmenjaya, HRD