

ABSTRACT

As is well known, the media can portray reality and fiction, two contradictory things, but express each other, limited are limited, what they are, and can even be enhanced by the presence of sophisticated technology, which makes it as reality as it does here. closer. Superhero is one of the most popular science fiction images today, which is very sophisticated, super and perfect, a very effective process through the discovery of strong artificial signs. The thing that is done is an interesting phenomenon, which grows together in the media and allows humans to live in both worlds at once.
