ABSTRACT

Starting from the cases of abuse of children in school lately makes many parents feel worried, because the perpetrators of harassment at school can come from anyone. In addition, the lack of awareness of parents to provide education about harassment to be one of the causes of the phenomenon of "bullying". This research is using data collection methods such as observation, literature study, questionnaires and interviews. From the problems above, the existence of books that provide educational understanding about child abuse for parents can help parents to avoid the phenomenon of bullying. This paper will discuss how the design process of the website design from the point of Visual Communication Design.

Keywords: Bullying, Children, Graphic Design, Visual Communication Design.