Sports Center is a place that provides sports activities facilities both training, recreation and competitive activities that are useful for the community (Design For Sports A. Perin Gerald, 1981). In general, the Sports Center is also equipped with supporting facilities such as café, retail, and self-reflection facilities. While wellness is defined as a long process to get a good life that is positive thinking, optimal physical condition, psychological, and social functions.

The method used in this design is descriptive, analysis and synthesis. So that the new design created can benefit women who exercise to always maintain health and achieve a productive lifestyle through an object and interior elements that can encourage enthusiasm. The concept that will be applied at the Sport and Wellness Center for Women in Bandung is Women's Power with the aim to facilitate and support the activities carried out in this design. The theme that will be used in the design is a rose which is a symbol of a woman based on existing data.
