

ABSTRACT

Accreditation is an acknowledgment of a university or study program which shows that the university or study program in implementing the educational program and the quality of graduates produced has met the standards set by the National Accreditation Board for Higher Education (BAN-PT). Telkom University is an institution that has 7 faculties and 42 study programs that will be challenged. One of the standards relating to accreditation assessment is Human Resources. Telkom University itself has so many existing employees and employee data that will be used for accreditation is very much and difficult to recapitulate the data. To overcome this problem, a web application was designed, namely "DashKep: Employment Dashboard for Study Program Accreditation by BAN-PT IAPS 4.0". This application is expected to help simplify the process of recapitulating existing staffing data. Based on the testing of the Employee Dashboard application for the Study Program Accreditation, it can help Telkom University Human Resources Directorate employees in staffing data collection.
