Telkom Indonesia is one of the largest information and communication companies and providers of telecommunications services and networks in Indonesia, with 15 million fixed subscribers and 104 million cellular subscribers. So this makes the company one of the State-Owned Enterprises (BUMN) in Indonesia as a telecommunications media company. Because this company has a job that prioritizes telecommunications services in Indonesia, through the Regulation of the Minister of Health Number 9 of 2020 concerning Guidelines for Large-Scale Social Restrictions in the Context of Accelerating the Handling of Corona Virus Disease (Covid-19), it is exempted as one of the jobs that may operate in Indonesia during the Covid-19 pandemic. The Covid-19 pandemic is an infectious disease caused by the newly discovered coronavirus. Judging from the current situation, doing work is not an easy thing for workers to adjust to in this day and age. There are many cases of workers having to get Termination of Employment (PHK) because they do not comply with the PSBB regulations issued by the government. Graha Merah Putih Telkom Indonesia-Bandung is managed by a subsidiary of PT Telkom, namely Telkom Property, which is still operating during the pandemic. By looking at the development of workers at the Telkom Indonesia-Graha Merah Putih office during the Covid-19 pandemic, therefore the author concludes about the Re-design of Telkom Indonesia-Bandung Graha Merah Putih using a worker's office activity approach at work during the Covid-19 pandemic. . In this design also has another goal, namely increasing the productivity of office workers through the atmosphere of the office interior so that activities in the office can be carried out properly and smoothly.
