

ABSTRACT

At the beginning of 2021, the Democratic Party was dogged by the problem of a coup with the Extraordinary Congress initiated by Jhoni Allen Marbun et al who resulted in the new Chairman of the Democratic Party, Moeldoko. There is a relationship between the two parties and attracted the attention of Indonesian politicians and the Indonesian people because Moeldoko himself is the Presidential Chief of Staff of Jokowi's government who is not a cadre of the Democratic Party. News of the coup carried out by Moeldoko against the Democratic Party has been widely highlighted by the mass media, especially daring media such as detik.com and okezone.com. In this study, to find out how the two media framed the news of the Democratic Party coup case between Agus Harimurti Yudhoyono (AHY) and Moeldoko, researchers used Zhongdang Pan & M. Kosicki bingkai that looked at bingkai of syntactic, scripted, thematic and rhetorical structures. Researchers use contuktivis paradigms and qualitative research methods. Researchers found that detik.com further cornered Moeldoko's side where the Democratic Party coup carried out by Moeldoko's side was not true from the legal side. And many display sources who are pro against the AHY. While okezone.com more balanced and bolder in conveying criticism to Agus Harimurti Yudhoyono (AHY).

keywords: framing, coup, Democratic Party, detik.com, okezone.com.