

ABSTRACT

Healing has been a busy issue in the community in recent years, coupled with technological advances that have made it easier for the flow of information about healing to become a trend among millennials. With the information and increasing technology, there is an Instagram application which is a place for healing issues in the community. Healing is a process of healing inner wounds that interfere emotionally and mentally. Healing is done by traveling to the open, in other words, a vacation. The purpose of doing healing is to get rid of the feeling of boredom that interferes emotionally and take a break from a problem that binds to oneself. Thus, the final project entitled visualization of the issue of healing with conceptual photography aims to provide an illustration that healing has a special meaning for people who get inner wounds from an event. To deepen the public's perception of healing issues which is formed by visualizing in the form of photos with the meaning of healing from emotion and mentality.
