

ABSTRACT

Write your abstract in English. Using spacing 1 and italic.

Final Project Data Management is the process of processing data from determining students who are eligible for trial, giving grades, signing documents or ratifying documents, as well as providing revision notes on this final project. The process of grading, ratifying documents, and providing notes on revisions uses a manual method that requires supervisor 1 to send files to supervisor 2. Therefore, Final Project Data Management will improve the process and scope by building applications that can include Final Project Data Management.
