

ABSTRACT

Indonesia is a country with various kinds of uniqueness such as typical food and traditional medicine with the circulation of food and medicine consumed by the community, it is necessary for an institution to provide education on the composition of food and medicine that is suitable for consumption. Indonesia has BPOM or the Center for Drug and Food Control which provides health services regarding drugs and foods suitable for consumption with good composition, as well as researching and granting permits for these drugs and foods. BPOM Bandung has three buildings, namely A, B and C. Building A is the main building and as the chosen design object, Building A employees have a collaborative work culture, problems with poor furniture and room arrangement interfere with work activities, so there needs to be a design redesigning the interior of building A with a work activity approach, aiming to make the working atmosphere comfortable.

Keywords: BPOM Bandung, work activities, arrangement of furniture and space.
