

ABSTRACT

Death is something that will definitely happen and cannot be avoided. The discussion about death has a broad scope, one of which is about what will happen after death occurs. Many people think that death is the end of life, but in some beliefs and cultures they believe that after this death there is a new life that they will take. From the existence of a belief that life after death will get a beautiful new life, the writer makes a final project based on this belief. In this work the methodology used is literature study and exploration of the work medium. With the author's belief that we will have eternal life after we experience death, the author hopes that this work can show that we as humans do not need to be afraid of death because we are already under God's protection.

Keywords: Death, Life after Death, belief.
