

ABSTRACT

The implementation of sanitation and hygiene at the Grand Tjokro Premier Bandung Hotel is an important effort in the implementation of hotel operations. Sanitation is a way of community supervision that focuses on monitoring various environmental factors that may affect the degree of public health. While hygiene is a prevention of disease that focuses on individual or human health efforts and the environment in which the person is located. The formulation of the problems studied are how to improve food quality through hygiene and sanitation, sanitation and hygiene practices at the Grand Tjokro Premier Hotel Bandung and the problems encountered in implementing sanitation and hygiene at the Grand Tjokro Premier Hotel Bandung. The data collection method used for writing this report was a descriptive method with data collection techniques, namely observation and interviews.

Keywords: Hygiene, Hotel, Kitchen, Sanitation.