

ABSTRACT

This inn Marketplace application aims to be an intermediary between inn owners and users or users of inn services. This website-based application was built using a structured approach methodology with the SDLC (Life Development Life Cycle System) method and the development model for building this application is the waterfall model. The selection of methodology was chosen with the hope of building applications that can realize the goals of application development.

Keyword: Marketplace, Inn, Website's Application