

ABSTRACT

The art installation entitled "Decrypting the Enigmatic Love" appeared as a response to the complexity of intergenerational relationships in the modern era. The increasingly obvious gap between generations, marked by differences in values, views and ways of life, is the main background of this work. With an aesthetic approach that allows for various interpretations, this installation seeks to explore the deep meaning of love and affection in a family context that is often filled with contradictions. In a situation where traditional values that emphasize hierarchy and obedience often conflict with the more individualistic and pluralistic ideals of the younger generation, this work functions as a space for inclusive dialogue. The visual symbols rich in meaning in this work function as metaphors that invite the audience to reflect on the complexity of intergenerational relationships. Specially designed audience interactions in enjoying this work encourage active participation in the interpretation process. Through a qualitative approach, the creative process for this installation involves direct observation of modern family dynamics. Empirical data obtained during the production process becomes a strong basis for the development of artistic concepts and ideas. It is hoped that this work will be a meeting point for various perspectives, spark constructive conversation, and encourage a deeper understanding of the meaning of love in the ever-changing family context. Thus, the work "Decrypting the Enigmatic Love" can function as a reflective medium that encourages dialogue between generations through its distribution in exhibition halls and film festivals.
