

PREFACE

Finally, with all humility and thankfulness, the author expresses gratitude and praise to Allah SWT for all of his countless blessings, grace and strength in all of the author's efforts to complete this thesis. Writing this thesis was not an easy process. There were days when motivation waned and fatigue set in. But behind all the struggles, there were the unseen hands of strength, prayers, guidance and encouragement from many people. For this reason, the author would like to sincerely thank the:

1. My dear parents, whose prayers, support, and love have accompanied my steps in this academic journey.
2. Mr. Iqbal Yulizar Mukti, S.Si., M.T., Ph.D as the first supervisor who has patiently guided and supported me during the preparation and completion of this research.
3. Mr. Luthfi Ramadani, S.T., M.T., Ph.D. as the second supervisor who gave his comments and inputs to bring this research into better and clearer shape.
4. The stakeholders from PT Mandiri Inovasi Bersama (PT MIB), who generously shared their time and insights, enabled an experience into their world of operations, and supported this research by accepting to be interviewed and answering questionnaires.
5. My friends who were always there to give me a shoulder and to support me along this journey.
6. Everyone who I cannot name individually, but whose presence made this work possible.

This research is not the end but only the beginning of a long journey as a true lifelong learner. I hope that this research will be of assistance to you, to oneself and to others that it may help. Finally, I am well aware that this research is far from perfect and is open for any constructive feedback and suggestions. And may Allah SWT guide and bless our every step into the being that we are to become.
