

ABSTRAK

In modern time's, Information System very important to help the people for and material process. So many kinds Information System in the world. For example flight reservation system, shipping reservation system and many more. One of many system in Indonesia for business is Information System laundry. This system can be easily for employees work.

In this project, the employees greatly helped to work. Because the employees no need calculate the clothing of hotel guests. Many hotel and place in Indonesia still use manual tool like calculator and the others for work. It's time for use Information Technology.

And this moment many company in Indonesia use Information System for facilitate their employees. And also many hotel use this Information System for expert process calculate laundry of hotel guests.

Application of Information Systems Laundry in Hotel use programming language Personal home Page and Oracle Database 11g Express Edition is a simple application that can process material order by id hotel guests. This application can use for the employees who don't understand much about the technology

Keywords : Information system, laundry, Personal Home Page, Oracle Database 11g Express Edition.