

ABSTACT

With the development of internet and telecommunication in Indonesia, require an applications based on Web, which is can easily and useful for supporting in transferring information so it can be more efficient and to be controlled with an application based on web. Application monitoring telephone based on web for communication commonly more secure as it out of reach to be jacked or stolen without knowing the place of its physical network.

Nowdays, internet require a good broadband acces for supporting many application. In this final project would be use web server for out put with IP PBX for the phone central.

The final achievement for this final project would be a system to monitoring call for phone in IT TELKOM further its can be get and determine the connectivity of telephone network in every room, and to manage for avoiding unuseful call.

Key Word : PHP, MYSQL, Web server, IP PBX