Abstract

Internet technology has a profound effect on the trade or business. Only from home or office, prospective buyers can see products on the computer screen, access information, order and pay with the options available. GX Comp is a shop located in the city of Bandung, West Java where the store sells a variety of hardware and computer accessories. System sales that had been used by GX Comp this is to use a manual system that is, if consumers want to buy the goods so it can be by phone or come directly to the store. Currently, this kind of system started to perceived lack of effective and efficient.

Keywords: sales, computer, internet, gxcomp.