

Abstract

Everyday in our life is very important to get information which is accretion and update information's. By using website network, information will send to objected in a short time.

The final project purposed to create publications of products known as marketing and also create pre order service, that can display accurate information, realtime, and up to date. It will be required with PHP Program Language with Code Igniter framework and additional from Adobe Dreamweaver CS5, Ms.Visio Professional 2007 for system modeling, where as for database using MYSQL.

The application have functional user in managing information about products, ordering, implementation of orders, recording of transactions and customers in the AFL Collection. The results of processing the data above can be viewed on the website and monitor. As for the media in the input process information is the website.

Keyword: MYSQL, Website, Pre Order, Collection, Framework.